

ASIAN REVIEW

Vol. 26, 2013

REGIONALISM

ASEAN's weak role in bilateral dispute settlement: The case of Preah Vihear (Phra Wihan)
Gabriela Steinemann

ASEAN and the South China Sea disputes: the search for peace and stability through security cooperation
Alessio Fratticcioli

Scenarios of gloregionalization and postglobalization in the beginning of the 21st century: The BRIC Forum
Juan González García

Cultural commercialization to keep indigenous cultures alive in Ifugao society, the Philippines
Anniken Renslo Sandvik

Contents

Introduction	1
Withaya Sucharithawarugse
ASEAN's weak role in bilateral dispute settlement: The case of Preah Vihear (Phra Wihan)	3
Gabriela Steinemann
ASEAN and the South China Sea disputes: the search for peace and stability through security cooperation	11
Alessio Fratticcioli
Scenarios of gloregionalization and postglobalization in the beginning of the 21st century: The BRIC Forum	37
Juan González García
Cultural commercialization to keep indigenous cultures alive in Ifugao society, the Philippines	57
Anniken Renslo Sandvik
Contributors	73
Notes for contributors	75